

Cresthaven Stamp Club Launches Hobby Growth Program

Semi-Annual Show October 19 in West Palm Beach

On October 19, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., the Cresthaven Stamp Club will be hosting its semi-annual West Palm Beach Stamp Show in the Barkley Villas Auditorium, at 2605 Barkley Drive in West Palm Beach.

The show will include exhibits by members of the Club, giving visitors a sense of the range of choices that are available to collectors. They also can browse at the booths of dealers, who will have their holdings on display. In addition, the dealers will be pleased to answer questions and offer appraisal guidance for visitors who may already have a collection.

The public is invited to this family friendly show. There is ample free parking as well as free admission to the event.

Whether or not you can make it to the West Palm Beach Show, one visit to a Cresthaven Club meeting is all it will take for you to experience for yourself the pleasures of stamp collecting and the fun that club members share in their twice-monthly meetings. In addition, while club members encourage continuing a collection, area residents who have a collection to sell also can benefit from the knowledge club members have about how to value and sell a collection.

The Cresthaven Stamp Club meets from 1-3 p.m. the Second & Fourth Tuesdays of each month at the Barkley Villas Clubhouse, 2605 Barkley Dr., West Palm Beach, FL 33415.

A Club With A Mission

The October 19 West Palm Beach Stamp Show is part of a much larger effort by the Cresthaven Club to build our hobby in and around Florida's Palm Beach County. Through ads and news releases, they are spreading the word about how stamp collecting can be enjoyed by anyone and everyone. This includes people of all ages and interests, from youngsters and others on a limited budget to professionals and others who might want to compete for International Gold awards.

Another theme being pressed is the study of history, including the worldwide movement of the mails going back to the 1500s or, closer to home, the postal history of Florida or even as local as the Palm Beach area. As current collectors know, we also now have an increasing number of collecting choices in the form of topical issues on just about any possible theme.

In addition to publicizing the West Palm Beach show, the Cresthaven Club also is reaching out to anyone who might be interested in attending their meetings. That includes year-round residents who are part of this lively, active group that bills itself as the Palm Beaches' Friendliest Stamp Club, as well as collectors who make Florida their Winter home.
